BUILDERS of BEAUTY

NEW BEAUTY BUSH (Kolkwitzia Amabilis)

Discovered in the mountains of central China, and introduced in America only recently. A very attractive little shrub attaining a height of about six feet; center branches are upright, outer gracefully arching. The beautiful trumpet shaped flowers appearing in great profusion in June resemble the flower of Abelia; but the bush is much hardier, standing the severe climate of New England. The flower is pink, with orange veins in the throat and not quite so large as the weigelia. 12 to 15 inch plants, $1.00; 15 to 18 in. plants, $1.25; 18 to 24 in. plants $1.40.

KOREAN SPIREA (Spirea Trichocarpa)

A handsome new spirea with larger flowers than the common Spirea Van Houttii. It is extremely hardy and a wonderful grower, making a large, handsome specimen in a short time. It blooms later than the common spirea and has large dome shaped clusters which are very distinctly "eyed" or marked in the center, so it does not have quite the same dead white effect. We believe it will become a very popular shrub in a very short time. 12 to 15 in. plants, $1.00 each; 15 to 18 in. plants, $1.25 each.
